

SIIA Chooses Puerto Rico for 2017 International Conference

The Self-Insurance Institute of America, Inc. (SIIA) announced that it will hold its 2017 International Conference April 18-19 in San Juan, Puerto Rico at the Condado Vanderbilt Hotel.

The location selection reflects SIIA's continued focus on Latin America to help its members to identify and understand self-insurance-related business opportunities in emerging markets within the region.

As part of the selection process, SIIA president & CEO Mike Ferguson visited recently with more than a dozen leading business executives and government officials in Puerto Rico to better understand the advantages that this U.S. Territory offers, both as a location for the conference, and as a hub for medical travel, captive insurance and the sourcing of professional services in support of the domestic self-insurance industry.

The detailed event program will be released later this year, but a preview will be provided during SIIA's National Conference & Expo, scheduled for September 25-27, 2016 in Austin, TX. ■
